

Contents

1	Creative Destruction in the Global Financial System	1
1.1	The Gale of Creative Destruction	1
1.2	If Lehman Was just the Beginning	3
1.3	The Phoenix	5
1.4	Why Banking Is Different	7
1.5	If a SIFI Were to Fail	8
1.6	If a SIFI Needs to Fail	11
1.7	The Beginning of a “Bankaround”	15
1.8	Lehman Brothers, the Long Short	17
2	Fin Tech Innovation and the Disruption of the Global Financial System	21
2.1	The Wave of Fin Tech Innovation	21
2.2	New Entrants and Disruptive Technologies	24
2.3	Breaking up the Banking Value Chain	29
2.4	Innovation and Disruption in Payments	31
2.5	The Distributed Ledger Technology and Challenge	36
2.6	Innovation and Disruption in Lending	37
2.7	Innovation and Disruption in Asset Management	39
2.8	Innovation and Disruption in Investment Banking	41
2.9	Innovation and Disruption in Insurance	44
2.10	Transform or Die (The Quick and the Dead)	47
3	An Approach to Bank Restructuring	51
3.1	Bankaround: The New Game of the Game	51
3.2	The Unfolding of a Financial Crisis in Three Steps	52
3.3	Credibility Is Everything, and the Three Capitals	56
3.4	The “Bankaround” Approach, or RTX2	58
3.5	Restructuring	59
3.6	Turnaround	65
3.7	Transformation	68
3.8	Resolution	70

3.9	The Citigroup Case Study: Avoiding Nationalization at All Costs	71
3.10	The Hypo Real Estate Case Study: The State Footing the Bill	74
4	A New Resolution Regime in the European Union	77
4.1	A Safety Net to “Let Them Fall Safely”.	77
4.2	The Safety Net in European Banking	79
4.3	“European in Life, and National in Death”, No More.	82
4.4	Resolution Versus Liquidation	84
4.5	Capital Ratio and the “Bail In”, from Tax Payers to Deposit Holders	87
4.6	Banca Marche: The Origins of Its Demise	90
4.7	Banca Marche: The Build up to Its Final Fall	91
4.8	The Resolution and Final “Burden Sharing”.	93
4.9	Conclusion: The Bankaround to Come	95
	Bibliography	99

Restructuring and Innovation in Banking

Scardovi, C.

2016, VIII, 99 p. 36 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-40203-1