

Preface

The goal of the LNCS–Transactions on Foundations for Mastering Change (FoMaC) is to establish a community for developing theories, methods, and tools for dealing with the fact that change is not an exception, but the norm for today’s systems. The initial issue of FoMaC comprises, in particular, contributions by the members of the editorial board, in order to indicate its envisioned style and range of papers, which cross-cuts various traditional research directions, but is characterized by its clear focus on change.
