
Contents

Part I Essays

1	Somewhere (and Nowhere) Between Modernity and Tradition	3
1.1	Towards a Critique of International and Indigenous Perspectives on the Significance of Contemporary Chinese Art.	3
1.2	Tradition, Modernity and the Development of Modern Art in China	4
1.3	Contemporary Art in China	6
1.4	Indigenous Debates on the International Reception of Contemporary Chinese Art.	9
1.5	The Political Recuperation of Contemporary Chinese Art.	11
1.6	Towards a Multi-voiced Critique.	13
1.7	Indigenous Chinese Art Theory	14
1.8	International Art Theory	15
1.9	Conclusion.	15
2	International Curatorial Practice and the Problematic De-Territorialization of the ‘Identity’ Show	17
2.1	Introduction	17
2.2	The Politics of Identity	18
2.3	The Politics of Identity and International Curatorial Practice.	20
2.4	Deconstructing the Third Guangzhou Triennial, Farewell to Post-Colonialism	24
2.5	Beyond the Abstractions of Institutionalized Post-Colonialism	28
3	Qianwei (‘Avant-Garde’) Art in Reform-Era China	31
3.1	Introduction	31
3.2	Contemporary Chinese Art—Differing Discursive Perspectives	31
3.3	The Western(ized) Avant-Gardes and Post-avant-Gardes	34
3.4	Qianwei (‘Avant-Garde’) Art in China	36
3.5	Qianwei Art and the Persistence of (Subjective) Realism	39
4	Deconstructing Gao Minglu.	43
4.1	Critical Reflections on Contemporaneity and Associated Exceptionalist Readings of Contemporary Chinese Art	43
4.2	Contemporaneity.	44
4.3	Gao Minglu—‘Total Modernity in Chinese Contemporary Art’.	46
4.4	Conclusion.	52
5	Cultural Translation and Post hoc Intellectual Conceit.	55

6	'Besiege Wei to Rescue Zhao': A Stratagem Towards a Post-crisical Art.	65
6.1	Part I.	65
6.2	Critical Distance and the Avant-Gardes	66
6.3	Antagonistic Aesthetics and the Neo-Marxian Turn	68
6.4	Part II	70
7	The Double Way	79
8	Silence and Recuperation	83
9	The Cult of Ai	85
10	The (Continuing) Story of Ai.	89
 Part II Conversations
11	Inside the Yellow Box: Conversation with Lynne Howarth-Gladston and Paul Gladston	95
12	Track Changes: A Conversation with Jia.	105
13	Low Resolution: A Conversation with Zhang Peili	115
14	Answering the Question—"What is the Chinese Avant-Garde?": A Conversation with Zhai Zhenming	121
15	Disjuncture—Tradition—Indirectness: A Conversation with Qiu Anxiong	125
16	Collaboration as Struggle and Non-cooperation: A Conversation with Sun Yuan and Peng Yu	129
17	Time, Life and Nature: A Conversation with Liang Shaoji	133
18	'Sound Can Be Seen and Form Can Be Heard': A Conversation with He Sai Bang	139
 Part III Writing for Exhibitions
19	Immersion	149
19.1	Song Ling's Early Development as an Artist in the People's Republic of China.	149
19.2	Liberalization of Artistic Practice in the PRC After the Death of Mao	149
19.3	The '85 New Wave.	150
19.4	Avant-Garde Art Groups in China.	152
19.5	The Pond Association (Chi She)	154
20	Overlit Realm/Inner World	161

21	Objectless Desire	167
22	A Concise Series of Statements (that May or May Not Be) About the Work of the Artist Han Feng	173
23	The 14th Month (After the Great Flood)	177
24	A Short Essay About the Work of Wang Xin and Chen Yongwei	183
	Bibliography	185
	Index	189

Deconstructing Contemporary Chinese Art
Selected Critical Writings and Conversations,
2007-2014

Gladston, P.

2016, XX, 195 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-662-46487-8