

Contents

1	Non-classical Crystallization	1
1.1	Classical Versus Non-classical Crystallization	1
1.2	Theory of Charged Nanoparticles	4
1.3	Effect of Charge on the Bond Strength	5
1.4	Growth of Nanowires by Non-classical Crystallization	7
1.5	Direct Observation of Non-classical Crystallization	9
1.5.1	Growth of Pt ₃ Fe Nanorods	9
1.5.2	Growth of Pt Crystals	12
1.6	Healing of Mg Nanopores by Electron Beam Irradiation	14
1.7	Particle Formation in the Chemical Vapour Deposition Process	16
	References	17
2	Thermodynamics of Physical and Chemical Vapour Deposition	21
2.1	Ideal Gases	21
2.2	Driving Force for Evaporation	22
2.3	Driving Force for Condensation	24
2.4	Driving Force for Deposition in the Physical Vapour Deposition Process	24
2.5	Irreversibility for Chemical Reactions	25
2.6	Driving Force for Deposition in the Chemical Vapour Deposition Process	27
2.7	Consideration of the Substrate or Surface	31
2.8	Driving Force for Deposition of Compound or Solid Solution	31
2.9	Calculation Examples Using Thermo-Calc	33
2.9.1	Si-Cl-H System	33
2.9.2	Si-C-H System	34
2.10	Validity of the Thermodynamic Scheme	35
2.11	Maximum Film Growth Rate in the CVD Process	37

2.12	Driving Force for Deposition in the Diamond Chemical Vapour Deposition Process	37
2.13	Kinetics	48
	References	49
3	Nucleation	51
3.1	Classical Nucleation Theory	51
3.2	Rate of Nucleation	53
3.3	Heterogeneous Nucleation	56
3.4	Preferential Nucleation Along Scratches on the Substrate in the Diamond CVD Process	62
3.5	Ion-Induced Nucleation: Heterogeneous Nucleation in the Gas Phase	64
3.6	Photo-Induced Nucleation: Heterogeneous Nucleation in the Gas Phase	69
	References	70
4	Growth	73
4.1	Rough and Smooth Interfaces	73
4.2	Diffusion-Controlled Growth	74
4.3	Interface-Controlled Growth	76
4.3.1	Terrace-Ledge-Kink (TLK) Model	76
4.3.2	Growth by 2D Nucleation	78
4.3.3	Growth by Spiral Steps	81
4.3.4	Kinetic Roughening	82
4.3.5	Dissolution or Evaporation	83
4.4	Roughening Transition of the Interface	83
4.5	Equilibrium Shape	84
4.6	Growth Shape	85
4.7	Growth Shape of Diamond Crystals	86
4.8	Growth Mode and Morphology of Crystals	91
4.9	Secondary Nucleation on the Growing Interface	92
4.10	Nanocrystalline or Microcrystalline Grains Embedded in an Amorphous Matrix	94
4.11	Nanocrystalline Films	96
	References	98
5	Diamond Synthesis at Low Pressure	101
5.1	High Pressure Synthesis of Diamond	101
5.2	Low Pressure Synthesis of Diamond (Old CVD Process)	102
5.2.1	Possibility of Gas Phase Nucleation in the Old CVD Diamond Process	103

5.3	Diamond Synthesis at Low Pressure (New CVD Process Using Gas Activation)	104
5.3.1	CVD Diamond Reactor and Processing Conditions.	105
5.3.2	Phase Diagram of Carbon	106
5.4	Thermodynamics and Kinetics of the Diamond Synthesis at Low Pressure.	107
5.5	Comparison of Stability Between Diamond and Graphite in the Nucleation Stage.	109
5.6	Capillary Pressure of Diamond and Graphite in the Nucleation Stage	112
5.6.1	Relative Nucleation Rate of Diamond and Graphite	114
5.7	Diamonds in the Sky	116
5.8	Comparison of Nucleation Barrier Between Diamond and Graphite	118
5.9	Atomic Hydrogen Hypothesis	119
5.9.1	Distinction Between Reversible and Irreversible Fluxes.	119
5.9.2	Criticism of Atomic Hydrogen Hypothesis.	120
5.10	Diamond Deposition with Simultaneous Graphite Etching.	122
5.11	Experimental Fact Appearing to Violate the Second Law of Thermodynamics	124
	References	127
6	Growth Mechanism of CVD Diamond	131
6.1	Deposition Behaviour Between Silicon and Iron Substrates	131
6.2	Formation Mechanism of Soot.	133
6.3	Preferential Formation of Soot at the Corner of Iron Substrates.	134
6.4	Current Measurements in the CVD Diamond Reactor.	134
6.5	Ion-Induced Nucleation.	136
6.6	Which Property of Substrates Is Related with Soot Formation?	136
6.7	Comparison of Deposition Behaviour Between Floating and Grounded Iron Substrates	139
6.8	Charged Cluster Model.	140
6.9	Experimental Verification of Hypothetical Diamond Nanoparticles in the Gas Phase	141
6.10	Experimental Evidences for Diamond Etching During the CVD Diamond Process	145
6.11	Ex-situ Observation of Diamond Clusters	146
6.12	Effect of Methane Concentration on the Size of Charged Clusters	149
6.13	Diamond Synthesis Without Hydrogen at Low Pressure	152

6.14	Growth Rate With and Without Gas Phase Nucleation	154
6.15	Deposition Behaviour of Charged Clusters	155
6.15.1	Preferential Diamond Formation on the Edge.	155
6.15.2	Bias Effect in the Hot Filament CVD Process	156
6.15.3	Bias Effect in the DC Plasma Process	157
6.15.4	Bias Enhanced Nucleation (BEN).	158
	References	158
7	Growth Mechanism of CVD Silicon	163
7.1	Simultaneous Deposition and Etching of Silicon During CVD	163
7.2	Deposition Behaviour Between Conducting, Semi-conducting and Insulating Substrates.	169
7.3	Deposition Behaviour on Substrates with Different Charge Transfer Rates	173
7.4	Growth of Silicon Nanowires	175
	References	179
8	Other Works Related to Non-classical Crystallization of Thin Films and Nanostructures.	181
8.1	Hot Cluster Epitaxy by Thermal Plasma Flash Evaporation	181
8.2	Polymorphous Si Films by Plasma Enhanced CVD	184
8.3	Nano-Fabrications Using the Building Blocks Generated in Plasma	188
	References	189
9	Experimental Confirmation of Charged Nanoparticles During Atmospheric CVD Using Differential Mobility Analyser.	193
9.1	Differential Mobility Analyzer and Faraday Cup Electrometer	193
9.2	Generation of Charged Nanoparticles During the Synthesis of ZnO Nanostructures	197
9.2.1	In-situ Measurements of CNPs by DMA During the Synthesis of ZnO Nanostructures	197
9.2.2	Formation Mechanism of Charged Nanoparticles	199
9.3	Generation of Charged Nanoparticles During the Synthesis of Carbon Nanotubes	200
9.3.1	Hot Filament CVD Process	201
9.3.2	Measurements of CNPs by DMA During Atmospheric CVD	204
9.4	Generation of Charged Nanoparticles During the Synthesis of Si Films	208

9.5	Generation of Charged Nanoparticles During the Synthesis of Si Nanowires	210
9.6	Generation of Charged Nanoparticles During the Synthesis of GaN Nanostructures	214
	References	219
10	Experimental Confirmation of Charged Nanoparticles at Low Pressure	223
10.1	Measurements of Nanoparticles Using a Low Pressure Differential Mobility Analyser	223
10.2	Measurements of Particle Size in Plasma Enhanced CVD Using a Low Pressure Differential Mobility Analyzer	225
10.3	Measurements of Particle Size During Laser Ablation Using a Low Pressure Differential Mobility Analyzer	227
10.4	Measurements of CNPs During Si Hot Wire CVD Using a Particle Beam Mass Spectrometer.	229
	References	238
11	Deposition Behavior of Charged Nanoparticles	241
11.1	Comparison of Deposition Behavior of Si Between Floating and Grounded Substrates.	241
11.2	Evolution of Puzzling Microstructures During Si CVD	245
11.3	Growth of Silicon Nanostructures by Thermal Evaporation of SiO Powders	253
11.4	Various ZnO Nanostructures	255
	References	259
12	Bias Effect on Deposition Behaviour of Charged Nanoparticles . . .	261
12.1	Dependence of Bias Effect on the Conductivity of Depositing Materials and Substrates	261
12.2	Bias Effect on Deposition Behavior of Si on Conducting, Insulating and Semiconducting Substrates	262
12.3	Comparison of Charge Generation from Hot Wires Between AC and DC Power Supply	269
12.3.1	Comparison of the Effect of Wire Bias Between AC and DC Powers	272
12.4	Non-uniform Deposition Using AC Power Supply in Si HWCVD.	273
12.5	Effect of Alternating Bias on Deposition in Si CVD.	277
12.6	Effect of Alternating Bias During ZnO CVD	282
	References	288

13	Charge-Enhanced Kinetics	291
13.1	Magic Size	291
13.2	Experimental Evidences of Charge-Enhanced Diffusion
	During In-situ TEM Observation	293
13.2.1	Au Nanoparticles Under Electron-Beam Irradiation	294
13.2.2	Melting Point Depression	296
13.2.3	Electron-Assisted Superplasticity of Amorphous Silica	297
13.3	Comparison of Deposition Behaviour Between Neutral and Charged Nanoparticles	298
13.4	Gas-Mediated Electron or Ion Beam Induced Deposition and Etching	301
13.5	Catalytic Effect by Charge	304
	References	305
14	Implications and Applications	307
14.1	Summary of the Theory of Charged Nanoparticles	307
14.2	Implications in Thin Film Processes	308
14.2.1	CVD Process	308
14.2.2	Plasma Enhanced CVD (PECVD)	309
14.2.3	Low Pressure Synthesis of Diamonds	309
14.2.4	Conducting and Insulating CNPs	310
14.2.5	Thermal Evaporation	310
14.2.6	Sputtering	313
14.2.7	Pulsed Laser Ablation	314
14.2.8	Aerosol Deposition	314
14.2.9	Aerosol CVD	315
14.2.10	Electrospray Deposition	315
14.3	Applications in the CVD Process	316
14.3.1	Epitaxial and Non-epitaxial Growth	316
14.3.2	Low Temperature Deposition of Crystalline Phase	317
14.3.3	Amorphous Incubation Layer	319
14.4	Phenomena that Might Be Related with Charge-Enhanced Diffusion	326
	References	326
	Index	331

Non-Classical Crystallization of Thin Films and Nanostructures in CVD and PVD Processes

Hwang, N.M.

2016, XII, 332 p. 229 illus., 64 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-94-017-7614-1