

Contents

Part I Prologue

Engineering the Arts	3
Damith Herath and Christian Kroos
The Art in the Machine	19
Christian Kroos

Part II Then and Now

We Have Always Been Robots: The History of Robots and Art	29
Elizabeth Stephens and Tara Heffernan
Robotics and Art, Computationalism and Embodiment	47
Simon Penny
Robotics: Hephaestus Does It Again	67
Jean-Paul Laumond

Part III Otherness

Embracing Interdependencies: Machines, Humans and Non-humans	89
Amy M. Youngs
Trans-Species Interfaces: A Manifesto for Symbiogenesis	113
Ken Rinaldo
Cultivating the Uncanny: The Telegarden and Other Oddities	149
Elizabeth Jochum and Ken Goldberg
The Potential of Otherness in Robotic Art	177
Eleanor Sandry
Being One, Being Many	191
Christian Kroos and Damith Herath

Part IV Explorations

Way of the Jitterbug	213
Norman T. White
Still and Useless: The Ultimate Automaton	229
Nicolas Reeves and David St-Onge
Machines That Make Art	255
Leonel Moura

Part V Embodiment

The Multiple Bodies of a Machine Performer	273
Louis-Philippe Demers
Bio-engineered Brains and Robotic Bodies: From Embodiment to Self-portraiture	307
Guy Ben-Ary and Gemma Ben-Ary
Android Robots as In-between Beings	327
Kohei Ogawa and Hiroshi Ishiguro
Into the Soft Machine	339
Chico MacMurtrie

Part VI Interactions

I Want to Believe—Empathy and Catharsis in Robotic Art	365
Bill Vorn
Designing Robots Creatively	379
Mari Velonaki and David Rye
Robot Partner—Are Friends Electric?	403
Stefan Doepner and Urška Jurman

Part VII Epilogue

Encounters, Anecdotes and Insights—Prosthetics, Robotics and Art	427
Stelarc

<http://www.springer.com/978-981-10-0319-6>

Robots and Art

Exploring an Unlikely Symbiosis

Herath, D.; Kroos, C.; Stelarc (Eds.)

2016, XIX, 456 p. 218 illus., 200 illus. in color.,

Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-0319-6