

Contents

1 The Odyssey	1
1.1 Journey of Self-Discovery	1
1.2 Previous Professional and Academic Experience	3
1.3 The Choice of the Topic for This Study	4
1.4 Research Design	5
1.5 Summary	7
References	7
2 Reconceptualizing Ethnic Multilingual Learners in China	9
2.1 Ethnic Multilingual Education in China and Yunnan	9
2.2 Multilingual Education Policies in China	10
2.3 Demographic Features and Language Policies in Yunnan	11
2.4 Challenges for Ethnic Minority Higher Education	14
2.5 Policies, Curriculum, and Power Relationships: A Discussion of the Paradox	18
2.6 Summary	23
References	24
3 The Study of Multilingual Learners	27
3.1 Multiculturalism: A Social Trend Around the World	27
3.1.1 Strategies of Multiculturalism	29
3.1.2 Assimilation	29
3.1.3 Integration	30
3.1.4 Acculturation and Enculturation	30
3.1.5 Four Acculturation Strategies	30
3.2 Multicultural Education: A Notion of the Twenty-First Century	31
3.2.1 Multicultural Education in the West	33
3.2.2 The Configuration of Duoyuan Yiti in China	35

3.3	The Study of Multilingual Acquisition	38
3.3.1	The Psychological/Cognitive Approach	38
3.3.2	The Sociocultural Approach	39
3.3.3	The Post-structuralist Approach	41
3.4	The Study of the Identity of Multilingual Learners	47
3.4.1	The Sociocultural Paradigm and Identity Studies	47
3.4.2	The Post-Structuralist Paradigm to Identities of Multilingual Learners	50
3.5	The Conceptual Framework of This Study	53
3.6	Summary	57
	References	57
4	The Profile of Yunnan University of Nationalities and Methodology	69
4.1	YUN History	69
4.2	The History of the School of Foreign Languages	71
4.3	YUN and SFL Curriculum	72
4.4	Implications of the SFL Curriculum	74
4.5	Views of Some SFL Administrators and Teachers	77
4.6	The Process of Data Collection	83
4.7	The Choice of the Two Major Informants	87
4.7.1	The Selection of Mammuts	87
4.7.2	The Selection of Noma	88
4.7.3	Data Analysis	89
4.8	Summary	91
	References	91
5	The Case of Mammuts	93
5.1	The Sociocultural Context of the Naxi	94
5.1.1	Demographic Features of the Naxi	94
5.1.2	The Naxi Language and Culture	94
5.1.3	Naxi Education Level and Features	96
5.2	Studies of the Naxi	97
5.3	Local Policy and Practice	98
5.4	The Story of Mammuts	99
5.4.1	Family and Childhood	99
5.4.2	School Journey	100
5.4.3	Language Shift Between Daily Life and Classroom	102
5.4.4	Tensions with Curriculum	103
5.4.5	Psychological Problems	107
5.4.6	Conflict with Parents	108
5.4.7	Identity Issues	109
5.4.8	The Enjoyable Off-Campus Life	113
5.4.9	Happy Vacations	114
5.4.10	Being a TA in Shane	114

5.4.11	Dae Jang Geum Club	115
5.4.12	Mary Kay Implication.	116
5.5	Discussion and Implications	117
5.5.1	Curriculum and Disempowerment	117
5.5.2	Capital, Agency, and Empowerment.	119
5.6	Summary	122
	References	123
6	The Case of Noma	127
6.1	Sociocultural Context of the Hani	127
6.1.1	Demographic Features	127
6.1.2	Characteristics of the Hani People	129
6.1.3	Socioeconomic Development.	130
6.1.4	Hani People's Perception of Education	132
6.1.5	Local Policies to Promote the Education of the Hani . . .	133
6.2	The Story of Noma	134
6.2.1	Family Background	134
6.2.2	Financial Problems.	135
6.2.3	Family Influence	137
6.2.4	Language Shift Between Daily Life and Classroom	139
6.2.5	Learning English as the Third Language	141
6.2.6	Tensions Within the Curriculum.	142
6.2.7	Psychological Problems	144
6.2.8	Culture Shock and Reentry Shock	145
6.2.9	Challenge of Being Class Monitor	147
6.2.10	Thanksgiving Attitude	149
6.2.11	Being Chinese with Hani Characteristics.	151
6.2.12	Dream of Being Noma-Amy	154
6.2.13	Dream, Reality, and Conflict	155
6.3	Discussion and Implications	156
6.3.1	Perception, Policy, and Practice	157
6.3.2	Investment, Legitimacy, and Changing Identity	158
6.3.3	Cultural Heritage, Attitude, and Actions	160
6.4	Summary	162
	References	163
7	Discussion and Conclusion	165
7.1	Mammuts and Noma: A Discussion of Contrast.	165
7.1.1	Sociocultural Background, Perception, and School Performance	165
7.1.2	Cultural Awareness	168
7.1.3	Preferential Education Policies.	169
7.1.4	Multilingual Acquisition	170
7.1.5	Psychological Support	171
7.1.6	Identity Issues	171
7.1.7	Investment and Return	175

7.2 Reflections on the Multiple Identities of Ethnic Minority
Learners 176

7.3 Suggestions for Further Study 180

7.4 Final Remarks 181

References 185

Afterword. 189

Appendices 193

Index 199

Pains and Gains of Ethnic Multilingual Learners in China
An Ethnographic Case Study

Wang, G.

2016, XXV, 202 p. 15 illus., 14 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-0659-3