1	Introduction: A Personal Experience of Culture Shock	1
1.1	Early Awakenings	1
	References.	5
2	Noticing Recurrent Patterns, from Microcosm to Macrocosm	7
2.1	Evolutionary Ecology: The Art and Science of Recognizing and Understanding Pattern, Process and Relationship in the Natural World.	7
2.2	Receptive Enquiry: Exploring Natural Patterns with Eyes and Mind Wide Open.	8
	References.	27
3	Natural Flow Geometry: ‘Pulse’ and ‘Circulation’	29
3.1	Rigidization by Digitization: The Estranged Square World of Abstract Geometry and Arithmetic.	29
3.1.1	Statistics, Complexity Theory and Fractal Geometry: Abstract Mathematical Attempts to Account for Natural Uncertainty.	32
3.2	‘Place-Time’: The Transformational Flow Geometry of Nature	35
3.2.1	Pulse and Circulation: Starting from Natural ‘Spherical One’, not Abstract ‘Square One’	37
3.2.2	Spirals.	40
3.2.3	Ripples	40
3.2.4	Rivers and Flow-Networks	41
3.2.5	‘Crazy Paving’	42
	References.	43

4	Natural Inclusion and the Evolution of Self-identity	45
4.1	Discrete and Continuous Perceptions of Natural Origins and Destiny	45
4.2	Paradoxical Evolution: Abstract Theories of the Origin and Transformation of Life as an Independent Existence	47
4.3	Evolving Out of the Box: Life in Dynamic Relationship	49
4.4	From Self-definition to Self-opening	55
4.5	Self-identity and Consciousness as a Natural Inclusion of Neighbourhood	61
4.6	Genes as Reproducers of Life Patterns, not Units of Selection	62
4.7	Life, Love and Natural Inclusion	63
	References	64
5	Flow Geometry and the Evolution of Collective Organization: Individuals, Couples, Series and Huddles	67
5.1	Natural Companionship	67
5.2	Biological Life as an Embodied Water Flow, not a Genetically Controlled Machine	69
5.3	Diversity Within Cellular Life	71
5.4	Diversity Within Multicellular Life	72
5.5	Diversity Within Social Life	74
5.6	Diversity Within Community Life	78
5.6.1	Diversity in Life Cycle Patterns Within Natural Communities	80
5.6.2	The Vitality of Death Within Natural Community Life	81
5.7	From Biosphere to 'Cosmosphere' and 'Quantumsphere'	85
	References	86
6	The Influence of Core Beliefs and Perceptions on Human Cultural Diversity and Governance	87
6.1	Human Estrangement from Nature	87
6.2	Belief in Independent Identities	88
6.3	Belief in External Authority	89
6.4	Belief in Competitive Success	91
6.5	Belief that Strength Is Good and Weakness Is Bad	92
6.6	Belief that Money Is Wealth	94
6.7	Belief in Time as an External Occurrence	96
6.8	Belief in Unity as an Antidote to Division	97
6.9	Belief in Death as Finality	97
6.10	From Abstract Rationality to Natural Inclusion: Evolution, not Revolution	98
