Part I Goals of Mathematics Instruction

Goals of Mathematics Instruction: Seven Thoughts and Seven Illustrations of Means . . . . .	3
Alexander Soifer

Part II Geometry for Competitions

From a Mathematical Situation to a Problem . . . . .	27
Francisco Bellot-Rosado
Techniques for Solving Problems of Plane Geometry . . . . .	55
K.P. Shum

Part III Combinatorics for Competitions

Arrangements and Transformations of Numbers on a Circle: An Essay Inspired by Problems of Mathematics Competitions . . . . .	101
Kiril Bankov

Combinatorial Problems in the Mathematical Olympiad of Central America and the Caribbean . . . . .	123
L.F. Cáceres-Duque, J.H. Nieto Said and R.J. Sánchez Lamonedá

Part IV Role of Competitions in the Classroom

The Rainbow of Mathematics—Teaching the Complete Spectrum and the Role Mathematics Competitions Can Play . . .	145
Robert Geretschläger

Competition Aims to Develop Flexibility in the Classroom . . . . .	171
Ingrid Semanišinová, Matúš Harminc and Martina Jesenská
Discovering, Development, and Manifestation of Mathematical Talent . . . . .	187
Iliana Tsvetkova
Part V Original Competitions
International Mathematical Tournament of Towns . . . . .	205
Nikolay Konstantinov and Sergey Dorichenko
Madhava Mathematics Competition—A Recent Initiative in India . . . . .	243
V.M. Sholapurkar
Part VI Thoughts About Competitions' Present and Future
From the Lifetime Experience of a Seasoned Math Educator—Thoughts, Hopes, Views and Impressions. . . . .	271
Romualdas Kašuba
Future Directions for Research in Mathematics Competitions . . . . .	303
Peter James Taylor
Part VII A Bridge Between Competitions and 'Real' Mathematics
Are Mathematics Competitions Changing the Mathematics that Is Being Done and the Way Mathematics Is Done? . . . . .	329
María Falk de Losada
Classic Conjectures Allow Young Mathematicians to Commence Research . . . . .	351
Alexander Soifer
