

Contents

Part I Language Studies

Changing Perceptions of Multiculturalism in the British Public Sphere	3
Katarzyna Molek-Kozakowska and Sabina Pogorzelska
The Use of Humor in the Multicultural Working Environment	19
Urszula Michalik and Iwona Sznicer
Taboos and Swearing: Cross-Linguistic Universalities and Peculiarities	33
Łukasz Matusz
The Conceptual Construal of ME TROUTHE in the Canterbury Tales: The Juxtaposition of Chaucer's and Contemporary English Worldviews	49
Agnieszka Wawrzyniak
Expressing the Prison Self	63
Alicja Dziedzic-Rawska

Part II (Multilingual) Language Learning and Teaching

New Approaches to Multilingualism Research: Focus on Metaphors and Similes	77
Danuta Gabryś-Barker
L2 or L3? Foreign Language Enjoyment and Proficiency	97
Ewa Piechurska-Kuciel
Emotional Text Reception in L1, L2 and L3, as Exemplified by Excerpts from Louise L. Hay's Self-Help Book You Can Heal Your Life	113
Teresa Maria Włosowicz

Academic Identities and Literacy Practices: A Few Remarks on the Influence of EAP Instruction on the Construction of Disciplinary Identities of Italian Tertiary Students	139
Iga Maria Lehman and Rob Anderson
Multicultural Education in English Teacher's Books for Young Learners	153
Maria Stec
Bilingual Teacher Training: Failure or Success? A Students' and Teachers' Perspective	171
Elżbieta Krawczyk-Neifar
Language Brokering, Prevalence and Emotions: Evidence from Five Multilingual Polish Teenagers Living in the UK	185
Anita Żytowicz
Erratum to: Multiculturalism, Multilingualism and the Self	E1
Danuta Gabryś-Barker, Dagmara Gałajda, Adam Wojtaszek and Paweł Zakrajewski

Multiculturalism, Multilingualism and the Self
Studies in Linguistics and Language Learning

Gabryś-Barker, D.; Gałajda, D.; Wojtaszek, A.;
Zakrajewski, P. (Eds.)

2017, XIV, 198 p. 5 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-56891-1