

CONTENTS

Part I Opportunities and Limitations

- | | | |
|----------|---|------------|
| 1 | Introduction: Aye. Naw. Mibbe. | 3 |
| | Geoffrey Wood and Keith Baker | |
| 2 | Large-Scale Renewables: Policy and Practice Under Devolution | 13 |
| | Geoffrey Wood | |
| 3 | Community Renewables: Balancing Optimism with Reality | 35 |
| | Bill Slee and Jelte Harnmeijer | |
| 4 | Marine Renewables: A Distinctly Scottish Dimension | 65 |
| | Alan Taylor | |
| 5 | Renewable Heat: The Perfect Storm? | 81 |
| | Keith Baker | |
| 6 | Scotland, Nuclear Energy Policy and Independence | 103 |
| | Raphael J. Heffron and William J. Nuttall | |

Part II The Challenges Ahead

7 Reducing Demand: Energy Efficiency and Behaviour Change	129
Keith Baker
8 Crossing the Rubicon: The 2015 Renewable Electricity Reforms and Implications for Scotland	153
Anna L. Berka, Jelte Harnmeijer and Bill Slee
9 Trouble on the Horizon? Further Devolution and Renewable Electricity Policy in Scotland	179
Geoffrey Wood
10 Scottish Electricity and Independence	199
David Toke
11 Epilogue: Scotland Moving Forward	211
Keith Baker and Geoffrey Wood
Index	215

A Critical Review of Scottish Renewable and Low Carbon
Energy Policy

Wood, G.; Baker, K. (Eds.)

2017, XXV, 225 p. 4 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-56897-3