

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: Gender, Authorship, and Early Modern Women's Collaboration	1
	Patricia Pender and Alexandra Day
 Part I Literary and Intertextual Co-labor
2	Katherine Parr, Henry VIII, and Royal Literary Collaboration	23
	Micheline White
3	Collaboration in the Parliamentary Speeches of Queen Elizabeth I	47
	Leah S. Marcus
4	Conflicted Collaboration in The Mothers Legacy	71
	Rebecca Stark-Gendrano
5	Collaboration, Authorship, and Gender in the Paratexts Accompanying Translations by Susan Du Verger and Judith Man	95
	Brenda M. Hosington

Part II Collective Contexts and Material Co-production

6	Literary Gifts: Performance and Collaboration in the Arundel/Lumley Family Manuscripts Alexandra Day	125
7	The Clerics and the Learned Lady: Intertextuality in the Religious Writings of Lady Jane Grey Louise Horton	149
8	Paratextual Marginalia, Early Modern Women, and Collaboration Rosalind Smith	175
9	“All Fell Not in Pharsalias Field”: Lucy Harington Russell and the Historical Epic Julie Crawford	201
10	“A Veray Patronesse”: Margaret Beaufort and the Early English Printers Patricia Pender	219
11	Afterword: “Her Book” and Early Modern Modes of Collaboration Margaret J.M. Ezell	245
	Bibliography	259
	Index	283

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-58776-9>

Gender, Authorship, and Early Modern Women's Collaboration

Pender, P. (Ed.)

2017, XVII, 291 p. 14 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-58776-9