

CONTENTS

|                                                |                                                                                           |           |
|------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1                                       | Introduction                                                                       | 1  |
|                                                | Christopher Vaccaro and Yvette Kisor                                                      |           |
| Part I The State of the Scholarship |                                                                                           |           |
| 2                                       | Queer Tolkien: A Bibliographical Essay on Tolkien and Alterity                     | 17 |
|                                                | Yvette Kisor                                                                              |           |
| 3                                       | Race in Tolkien Studies: A Bibliographic Essay                                     | 33 |
|                                                | Robin Anne Reid                                                                           |           |
| Part II Women and the Feminine      |                                                                                           |           |
| 4                                       | Revising Lobelia                                                                   | 77 |
|                                                | Amy Amendt-Raduege                                                                        |           |
| 5                                       | Medieval Organicism or Modern Feminist Science? Bombadil, Elves, and Mother Nature | 95 |
|                                                | Kristine Larsen                                                                           |           |

Part III The Queer

- |   |                                                                                                                                                       |     |
|---|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 6 | Cinema, Sexuality, Mechanical ReproductionValerie Rohy                                                                                            | 111 |
| 7 | Saruman's Sodomitic Resonances: Alain de Lille's De Planctu Naturae and J. R. R. Tolkien's The Lord of the RingsChristopher Vaccaro | 123 |
| 8 | Cruising Faery: Queer Desire in Giles, Niggle, and SmithStephen Yandell                                                                           | 149 |

Part IV Language

- |    |                                                                                                        |     |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 9  | Language and Alterity in Tolkien and LévinasDeidre Dawson                                          | 183 |
| 10 | The Orcs and the Others: Familiarity as Estrangement in The Lord of the RingsVerlyn Flieger | 205 |

Part V Identities

- |    |                                                                                                  |     |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 11 | Silmarils and Obsession: The Undoing of FëanorMelissa Ruth Arul                              | 225 |
| 12 | The Other as Kolbitr : Tolkien's Faramir and Éowyn as Alfred and ÆthelflædJohn Holmes | 241 |

- |       |  |     |
|-------|--|-----|
| Index |  | 263 |
|-------|--|-----|

Tolkien and Alterity

Vaccaro, C.; Kisor, Y. (Eds.)

2017, XII, 270 p. 1 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-61017-7