

Contents

1 The Frankfurt School: Introduction and Historical Background	1
References	11
2 What Happened to the Frankfurt School?	13
References	22
3 Theories of the Frankfurt School, Veblen, and Baudrillard: A Review	25
3.1 Theodor Adorno and Max Horkheimer	26
3.2 Herbert Marcuse	31
3.3 Erich Fromm	33
3.4 Thorstein Veblen	40
3.5 Jean Baudrillard	43
References	67
4 Theoretical Discussions and Arguments	69
4.1 Baudrillard and the Semiotic Aspects of the Culture Industry	72
4.1.1 Consumption as a Tool for Communication and Differentiation	74
4.1.2 An Answer to Our Main Question	77
4.2 The Culture Industry in Everyday Life	78
4.2.1 Shopping Centers	78
4.2.2 McDonaldization	80
4.2.3 The Image of Profusion	84
4.2.4 The Package	86
4.2.5 Restoration	88
4.3 Baudrillard and the New Aspects of the Culture Industry in the Media	89
4.3.1 The Consumed Vertigo of Catastrophe	89
4.3.2 Masking the Absence of a Profound Reality	91

4.3.3 The Culture Industry in the Age of Simulation 93

References 100

5 Conclusion 101

Index 107

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-69873-1>

Baudrillard and the Culture Industry
Returning to the First Generation of the Frankfurt
School

Khandizaji, A.

2017, VIII, 112 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-69873-1