1	Introduction	1
1.1	Why a Book About Quantitative Methods and Design Protocols?	1
1.1.1	Understanding Designing	1
1.1.2	Design Assessment	2
1.1.3	Tools for Studying Designing	3
1.2	Structure of the Book	3
2	Background	5
2.1	Studying Designers	5
2.1.1	Protocol Analysis	6
2.1.2	Measurement of Design Protocols	8
2.1.3	Linkography	12
2.2	Design: Process or Artefacts	13
2.2.1	Design Ideas	14
2.2.2	Design Process and Design Outcome Assessment	14
2.3	Conclusions	15
3	Theoretical Framework	17
3.1	Design Ontology and Ontological-Based Coding	17
3.1.1	FBS Ontology and Coding	18
3.1.2	Situated FBS Ontology	19
3.2	Meta-Analysis of Design Protocols Based on FBS Ontological Coding	21
3.3	Linkography	24
3.4	Syntactic Design Process	26
3.4.1	FBS-Based Design Issues of an Episode	26
3.4.2	Syntactic Design Process of the Episode	27
3.4.3	Situated FBS-Based Design Issues of an Episode	27

3.4.4	Using Markov Chains to Describe the Design Process	29
3.4.5	Some Properties of Markov Chains.	31
3.5	Semantic Design Process	33
3.5.1	Deriving FBS Design Processes	34
3.5.2	Deriving Situated FBS Design Processes	34
3.6	Statistical Analysis	36
3.6.1	Descriptive Statistics of Design Issues and Processes	36
3.6.2	Statistical Inference of Design Protocol: p Value	38
3.6.3	Statistical Description of Linkographs.	41
3.7	Information Theory.	45
3.7.1	Entropic Measurement of Linkographs	47
3.7.2	Normalizing Entropic Measurement for Comparison.	52
3.8	Summary	53
4	Ontologically-Based Studies of Design Protocols.	55
4.1	Case One: A Brainstorming Session.	55
4.1.1	Qualitative Analysis	56
4.1.2	Segments and Coding	57
4.1.3	Linking the Segments	58
4.1.4	Deriving Semantic FBS Processes from Coded Segments and Links	60
4.1.5	Syntactic Design Processes: Markov Analysis.	63
4.1.6	Deriving Situated FBS Processes	64
4.1.7	Findings in Case One	67
4.2	Case Two: Face-to-Face Versus Computer-Mediated	68
4.2.1	Qualitative Analysis	69
4.2.2	Ontological Coding of Both Sessions	72
4.2.3	The Eight FBS Processes of Both Sessions.	74
4.2.4	Markov Analysis.	76
4.2.5	Findings and Discussion for Case Two.	78
4.3	Case Three: Statistical Exploration of the Effects of Education on Design Cognition	79
4.3.1	Participants and the Experimental Setup	79
4.3.2	Results and Findings of Case Three	81
4.4	Case Four: Metacognition of Designing—Problem-Solution Index	85
4.4.1	FBS Design Issues Mapping and Problem-Solution Index.	86
4.4.2	The Experiment.	86
4.4.3	Results and Findings.	87
4.5	Conclusions	90

5 Pilot Study of Statistical and Entropic Description of Linkographs	93
5.1 Two Sessions	93
5.1.1 In Situ Face-to-Face Design Session	93
5.1.2 In Vitro NetMeeting Design Session	95
5.1.3 Qualitative Differences of the Two Sessions	97
5.2 Linkography Analysis of Cases	97
5.3 Statistics and Clustering of Links	101
5.3.1 Statistical Description of the Two Sessions	101
5.3.2 Cluster Analysis of the Two Sessions	102
5.4 Entropic Measurements	106
5.4.1 Entropy of the Two Sessions	106
5.4.2 Entropic Measurement of Individuals	107
5.4.3 Changes in Entropy During the Session	108
5.5 Findings and Discussions	112
6 Entropic Measurement and Design Outcome	113
6.1 The Experiment	113
6.2 Design Outcome	114
6.3 High- and Low-Scoring Sessions	116
6.3.1 Qualitative Comparison of the Highest- and Lowest-Scoring Sessions	117
6.4 Constructing Linkographs	118
6.5 Entropic Measurement	119
6.5.1 Entropy of High- and Low-Scoring Sessions	120
6.6 Entropic Variations	120
6.6.1 Entropic Variation Graphs	120
6.7 Idea Contributions	126
6.8 Conclusions	128
7 Conclusions	131
7.1 Design Protocol Studies	131
7.2 Reflections on Linkography	132
7.3 Ontological Coding of Linkographs	132
7.4 Markov Analysis	135
7.5 Entropic Measurement of Linkographs	136
7.6 General Discussion	136
Appendix A: Samples of Coding	139
Appendix B: Briefs of the Experiment	147
Appendix C: Experimental Setups	161
Appendix D: Samples of Outcomes	165
Appendix E: Situated FBS Processes	171
