
Contents

1	Introduction	1
	Reference	2
2	Rupture of the Uterus Scarred Due to Previous
	Caesarean Section	3
2.1	Asymptomatic Rupture	3
2.2	Scar Rupture During Labour	4
2.2.1	Scar Rupture in the First Stage of Labour	4
2.2.2	Scar Rupture in the Second Stage of Labour	8
2.2.3	Scar Rupture Diagnosed Postpartum	9
2.3	Rupture Early in Pregnancy in a Scarred Uterus	12
2.4	Scar Ruptures Involving Urinary Bladder	13
2.5	Interesting Cases from Literature and Discussion	15
	References	20
3	Rupture of Apparently Unscarred Uterus	25
3.1	Rupture in the Second Stage	26
3.2	Rupture Misdiagnosed as Antepartum Haemorrhage Due to Placenta Previa	29
3.3	Rupture Due to Misdiagnosed Malpresentation	32
3.4	Rupture Due to Trauma of Friable Lower Segment During Caesarean Section	33
3.5	Rupture of Unscarred Uterus from Literature	34
	References	35
4	Rupture of the Uterus Weakened Due to Rare Causes	37
4.1	Rupture Due to Previous Compression Sutures	37
4.2	Rupture After Previous Manual Removal of Placenta	38
4.3	Rupture of Uterus Weakened Due to Previous Intrauterine Procedures	40
	References	42

5	Rupture in a Primigravida	43
5.1	Rupture Following Obstructed Labour	43
5.2	Rupture of the Posterior Wall.	44
5.3	Iatrogenic Extraperitoneal Disruption of Uterine Artery Due to Instrumental Delivery	45
5.4	Rupture Following Induction of Labour	46
5.5	Rupture Due to Uterine Malformations	47
	References.	49
6	Rupture of The Uterus Weakened by Myomectomy Scars	51
6.1	Rupture Following Open Resection of Myoma	51
6.2	Rupture Following Previous Laparoscopic Myomectomy	52
6.3	Literature Review of Rupture After Myomectomy and Discussion	53
	References.	54
7	Rupture Due to Gestational Trophoblastic Disease	55
	References.	57
8	Ruptured Uterus in Gynaecological Situations	59
	References.	62
9	Management and Complications	63
	References.	66

Ruptured Uterus

Dorairajan, G.

2017, XIII, 66 p. 19 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-2850-2