

Contents

1	The Philosophical Foundations of Chinese Civilization	1
1.1	Correlative Cosmology	3
1.2	The One Continuous Qi	7
1.3	Yin-Yang Complementation	10
1.4	Continuously Generative Transformation	13
1.5	Natural Heavenly Patterns	16
1.6	Unification of Humans and Heaven	20
2	The Values and Worldview of Chinese Civilization	25
2.1	The Ethical Spirit of Early Chinese Civilization	26
2.2	The Fundamental Values of Axial Age Chinese Civilization	29
2.3	The Ancient Confucian System of Moral Concepts	32
2.4	The Preferences and Characteristics of the Values of Chinese Civilization	35
2.5	The Divergence Between the Value Preferences of Chinese Civilization and Modern Values	41
2.6	The Worldview of Chinese Civilization: Understanding and Attitude Regarding the External World	46
2.7	The Universal Ideal of Chinese Civilization: Pursuit of Pluralism and Harmony	51
3	A Brief Account of the Development of the Chinese Intellectual Tradition	57
3.1	Chinese Script and the Early Textual Corpus	59
3.2	The Formation of the Six Classics	61
3.3	The One Hundred Schools	63
3.4	Han Dynasty Classical Learning	66
3.5	The Records of the Grand Historian , the History of the Han , and the Shuo Wen Dictionary	69

3.6	The Broader Literary Corpus	71
3.7	Wei-Jin Era Neo-Daoism and Religious Daoism	73
3.8	Buddhism and Literature During the Sui and the Tang.	76
3.9	Song-Ming Neo-confucianism and the Structure of Scholarship.	79
3.10	Qing Dynasty Han Learning and Large-Scale Compilation Projects.	84
3.11	Early Modern Chinese Learning, Western Learning, and Guoxue	87
3.12	The Contemporary Guoxue Craze.	91
3.13	The Basic Characteristics of Chinese Civilization and Culture.	94
4	The Rise and Development of Modern “Guoxue”	97
4.1	The Birth and Development of the Idea of Guoxue	98
4.2	The Employment of the Concept of Guoxue	106
4.3	The Development of the Study of Guoxue	111
4.4	The Great Figures of Guoxue	117
	Appendices.	125
	Appendix A: Confucian Thought and Contemporary Society	125
	Appendix B: Modern Confucianism and Universal Values	151
	Appendix C: The Transmission and Development of Traditional Chinese Values	161

<http://www.springer.com/978-981-10-3366-7>

The Core Values of Chinese Civilization

Chen, L.

2017, X, 179 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-3366-7