Contents

1 Introduction 1
1.1 Research Context: SFLEP Contest 1
1.1.1 Background of the Contest 1
1.1.2 Social Process in the SFLEP Contest 2
1.1.3 Contest Finals in the Media 4
1.2 Meaning of Contest and Contest Discourse 4
1.2.1 What Does "Contest" Mean in the Present Research? 4
1.2.2 What Does "Contest Discourse" Mean in the Present Thesis? 5
1.3 Impact of the Present Research 5
1.3.1 Collective Identities Reflected in Contest Discourse 5
1.3.2 Washback and Impact of Contest 6
1.3.3 Knowledge Gap 7
1.4 Research Focus 8
1.5 Organization of Chapters 8
References 9

2 Theoretical Foundation 11
2.1 Approach to Genre 11
2.1.1 SFL Theory 11
2.1.2 Sydney School SFL Genre Theory 12
2.2 Change of Pedagogic Discourse in Mock Teaching in SFLEP Contest 13
2.2.1 Register Shifts of Pedagogic Discourse in Mock Teaching 13
2.2.2 Mock Teaching in SFLEP Contest as a Genre 14
2.2.3 Genre Relations in SFLEP Contest 15
2.2.4 Social Purpose of SFLEP Contest Realized in Genre Relations 16
2.2.5 Mock Teaching Genre Generated from Pedagogic Genre 17

2.2.6 Genre Instantiation and Individuation 18
2.2.7 Bernsteinian Theory of Pedagogic Identity 20
2.2.8 Privileged Pedagogic Identity in Contest Adjudicators' Post-contest Comments 22
References 23

3 Methods 25
3.1 Methods and Instruments in Approaching the Data 25
3.1.1 Data Used 25
3.1.2 Data Transcription 26
3.1.3 Data Translation 33
3.1.4 Ethical Considerations 37
References 37

4 Discourse Semantic Analysis of Mock Teaching Discourse 39
4.1 Rose's Analytic Framework 40
4.2 Pedagogic Relations in Mock Teaching Discourse 41
4.2.1 Shift of Exchange Roles in Mock Teaching Discourse 41
4.2.2 Shift of Participation in Mock Teaching Discourse 42
4.3 Pedagogic Activities in Mock Teaching Discourse 43
4.3.1 Shift of Cycle of Phases in Mock Teaching Discourse 43
4.4 Pedagogic Modalities in Mock Teaching Discourse 49
4.4.1 Shift of Sources of Meanings 49
4.5 Knowledge and Value Projected in Mock Teaching Discourse 53
References 54

5 Blurring ESL Pedagogic Genre in Mock Teaching Discourse 55
5.1 Lee's ESL Pedagogic Genre 55
5.2 Blurring Lee's ESL Pedagogic Genre in Mock Teaching Discourse 56
5.2.1 Blurring Generic Structure 56
5.2.2 Blurring Phases and Sub-stages of ESL Pedagogic Genre in Mock Teaching Discourse 59
Reference 63

6 Solidifying Mock Teaching Genre in Contest Adjudicators' Post-contest Comments 65
6.1 Solidification of Generic Structure of Mock Teaching Genre 67
6.2 Comment on Register Features and Solidification of Mock Teaching Genre 67
6.2.1 Examples of Comments on Register 67
6.2.2 An Overview 70
6.3 Privileged Pedagogic Identity in SFLEP Contest 73
6.4 Conclusion 76

Erratum to: Genre Changes and Privileged Pedagogic Identity in Teaching Contest Discourse E1

http://www.springer.com/978-981-10-3685-9

Genre Changes and Privileged Pedagogic Identity in Teaching Contest Discourse

Liu, N.; Irwin, D.

2017, X, 76 p. 18 illus., 5 illus. in color., Softcover
ISBN: 978-981-10-3685-9