

Contents

Part I Legitimacy of Law

1	What Is Law on Earth	5
	Systemisation of Order	6
	Public Will	9
	A Reflection of the Way of Life	13
	Reason Is an Internal Logic of Human Norms	16
	A Part of Culture	19
2	Social Structure: Lisu, Qingyi and Law	23
	Ethical-Oriented and Occupation-Differentiated	24
	Lisu (礼俗): Great Tradition and Little Tradition	29
	Qingyi: An Obscurity Between Subjectivity and Objectivity	33
	Two Law/Laws	38
3	Volksgeist: Human Reason and Law	41
	From Philosophy of Life to Spirit of the People	41
	Custom and Philosophy of Life	44
	Human Reason: A Presumption on and Expectation of Humanity	48
	Liang Shu-ming and Savigny	51
4	The Transcendence: Secular vis-à-vis Spiritual	59
	Two Camps	59
	The Source of Law	64
	Transcendental Way: Heaven Principle and Human Feeling	66
5	The Source and Crisis of Meaning in the Realm of Law in China	71
	Students Incident	72
	A “Legalist” Attitude	73
	Crisis of Meaning	75

Part I Conclusion

Part II Constitutional Government: China's Predicament and Extrication

6	The Constitutionalism: shi (勢) and li (理)	89
	Two as One.	90
	True Nature.	91
	Techniques of “ yaoyue ” (要約).	97
	The Western Conceptual Sources	100
7	China Has Not Yet Reached the Stage Where It Can Have a Successful Constitution	105
	Social-Historical Conditions	106
	Practical Difficulties and Lengthiness	112
	Cultural Predigestion and Blending	114
8	The Road to Constitutional Government in China	121
	The Holistic Resolution in Form of the Pieces in the Chain	121
	Rural Reconstruction: A Fact for a Norm	123
	KMT and the Communists: A Chance to Form
	Shi (勢) and Li (理)	124
	Later Years Since 1976.	127
9	The Reaction to and Reconsideration of Liang Shu-Ming	131
	Zhang Fu-Quan (张佛泉) and Hu Shi (胡适)	131
	Kung-Chuan Hsiao (萧公权).	133
	Qian Duan-Sheng (钱端升).	135
	A Concluding Comment	138

Part II Conclusion

Part III Legal Tradition: The Western Law and Its Transplantation in China

10	The Western Legal Spirit: An Observation from the Perspective of Confucianism.	147
	Law: Public and Private	147
	Law: Past and Present.	153
	Law: Value and Function	154
	Foreign Influence on Domestic Debates	157
11	The Roots of the Western Legal Spirit	159
	Life: A Corporate Body	160
	Mind: Divine Discontent.	163
	Presumption of Human Nature in Relation to Law	164

12 The Western Law in China: Transplantation

or Transformation 169

Four Cases 169

Local Self-government and Election: An Irony Behind

Life and Mind 172

Way Out: New from Old 176

Politics and Economy 181

A Joint Production: The Moral and the Legal 184

Part III Conclusion

Conclusion 197

Bibliography 201

The Confucian Misgivings--Liang Shu-ming's Narrative
About Law

Xu, Z.

2017, XXXII, 220 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-4529-5