

Contents

1	Attractive Work in a Globalized Context	1
1.1	Introduction	1
1.2	Conceptualizing Attractive Work	2
1.3	Attractive Work in the New Economic Context of India	6
1.4	Attractive Work in the Swedish Context.	7
1.5	Factors Influencing Perception of Attractive Work in India and Sweden	9
1.6	Attractive Work Across Types of Industries/Sectors	10
1.7	Concomitants of an Attractive Workplace.	13
1.8	Making the Workplace Attractive Through Organizational Values.	14
	References.	21
2	Employer Branding and Attractive Work	27
2.1	Employer Branding and Attractive Work	27
2.2	Perspectives on Employer Branding	27
2.3	The Concept of the ‘Employer Brand’ and Organizational Attributes	29
2.4	Employer Branding and Values	30
2.5	The Process of Employer Branding from an HRM Perspective	31
	References.	34
3	Corporate Social Responsibility and Equal Opportunities for Men and Women as Organizational Values	37
3.1	Corporate Social Responsibility	37
3.1.1	Approaches to Understanding CSR	37
3.1.2	Who and What Determines the Nature of CSR	39
3.1.3	Impact of CSR.	40
3.1.4	CSR as a Business Strategy.	41

3.1.5	Linkages of CSR Performance with Organizational Performance.	41
3.1.6	CSR and Social Change	43
3.1.7	Legislation and CSR	44
3.1.8	Communicating CSR	46
3.1.9	Organizational Culture and CSR Practices	47
3.1.10	The Indian Context	49
3.1.11	CSR in the Swedish Context	53
3.2	Equal Opportunities for Men and Women in the Organization (EO).	56
3.2.1	The Era of Gender Change in India and Sweden.	56
3.2.2	Gender Gaps Remain.	60
3.2.3	Gender Segregation in the Labour Market.	61
3.2.4	Organizational Culture and Gender Regimes	64
	References.	66
4	Multicultural Perspectives on Attractive Work.	73
4.1	Why Culture Is Important in Studies of Attractive Work	73
4.2	Exploring Whether Values Are Universal or Context-Specific	75
4.3	Two Approaches.	77
4.4	Choice of Contexts	78
4.4.1	Nations	79
4.4.2	Sectors.	79
4.4.3	Gender.	79
4.5	Research Questions and Analysis Strategy	80
4.6	Summary of the Contextual Approach	82
4.7	Concluding Remarks.	83
	References.	83
5	Study Design and Methodologies	85
5.1	Values as Perceived Organizational Practices	85
5.2	Challenges Associated with Cross-cultural Research.	86
5.2.1	The Necessity of Measurement Equivalence	86
5.2.2	Different Types of Threats to Measurement Equivalence	86
5.2.3	Procedures to Identify Measurement Equivalence	87
5.2.4	Measurement Invariance	88
5.3	Empirical Studies and Major Research Questions.	88
5.4	The First Survey Questionnaire Study.	89
5.4.1	Study Design and Sample	89
5.4.2	Instruments	89

5.4.3	Analysis.	90
5.4.4	The Dimensionality of CSR Practices in Study 1	94
5.4.5	Testing for Measurement Equivalence in CSR Practices in Study 1	95
5.4.6	The Dimensionality of EO Practices in Study 1	97
5.4.7	Testing for Measurement Equivalence in EO Practices in Study 1	99
5.5	Cognitive Interviews with Managers	100
5.5.1	Cognitive Interviews	100
5.5.2	Participants	102
5.5.3	Procedure.	102
5.6	The Second Survey Questionnaire Study	103
5.6.1	Sample.	103
5.6.2	Instruments	104
5.6.3	Analysis.	106
5.6.4	The Dimensionality of CSR Practices in Study 2	107
5.6.5	Testing for Measurement Equivalence in CSR Practices in Study 2	108
5.6.6	The Dimensionality of EO Practices in Study 2	111
5.6.7	Testing for Measurement Equivalence in EO Practices in Study 2	112
5.6.8	Reliability of the Final Measures for Perceptions of CSR and EO Practices	114
5.6.9	Putting All Scores on a Common Scale.	114
5.6.10	Aggregation and Sharedness	114
5.6.11	Screening for Extreme Observations	116
5.6.12	Summary of Study Variables.	117
5.7	Interviews with HR Managers.	119
5.8	Summary	120
	References.	121
6	The Manufacturing Sector	123
6.1	The Manufacturing Sector in India and Sweden	123
6.2	Profile of Organizations According to Socio-demographic Characteristics.	126
6.2.1	The Indian Manufacturing Organizations.	126
6.2.2	The Swedish Manufacturing Organizations	127
6.3	Conceptualization of CSR and EO	129
6.3.1	CSR.	129
6.3.2	EO.	132
6.4	CSR and EO Policies in Practice	135
6.5	Differences Between the Countries in Perceptions of CSR and EO	140

6.6	Profiles of Sample Organizations on CSR and EO	142
6.7	Differences Between the Countries in Perceptions of Attractiveness and Effectiveness	144
6.8	Attractiveness and Effectiveness Across Sample Organizations	145
6.9	Importance of Values for Attractiveness	146
6.10	Summary and Discussion	147
	References.	150
7	The Information Technology Sector.	151
7.1	The IT Sector in India and Sweden	151
7.2	Profile of Organizations According to Their Socio- demographic Characteristics	153
	7.2.1 The Indian IT Organizations	153
	7.2.2 The Swedish IT Organizations.	154
7.3	Conceptualizing CSR and EO.	156
	7.3.1 CSR.	156
	7.3.2 EO.	158
7.4	CSR and EO Policies in Practice	160
7.5	Differences Between the Countries in Perceptions of CSR and EO	165
7.6	Profiles of Sample Organizations with Regard to CSR and EO.	167
7.7	Differences Between the Countries in Terms of Attractiveness and Effectiveness	169
7.8	Attractiveness and Effectiveness Across Sample Organizations	169
7.9	Importance of Values for Attractiveness	171
7.10	Summary and Discussion	171
	References.	173
8	The Education Sector	175
8.1	The Education Sector in India and Sweden	175
8.2	Profile of Organizations According to Their Socio- demographic Characteristics	178
	8.2.1 The Indian Educational Organizations	178
	8.2.2 The Swedish Education Organizations.	179
8.3	Conceptualizing CSR and EO.	181
	8.3.1 CSR.	181
	8.3.2 EO.	183
8.4	CSR and EO Policies in Practice	185
8.5	Differences Between the Countries in Perceptions of CSR and EO	190
8.6	Profiles of Sample Organizations with Regard to CSR and EO.	191

8.7	Differences Between the Countries in Terms of Attractiveness and Effectiveness	193
8.8	Attractiveness and Effectiveness Across Sample Organizations	194
8.9	Importance of Values for Attractiveness	195
8.10	Summary and Discussion	196
	References.	198
9	The Healthcare Sector.	199
9.1	The Healthcare Sector in India and Sweden	199
9.2	Profile of Organizations According to Their Socio-demographic Characteristics	202
9.2.1	The Indian Healthcare Organizations	202
9.2.2	The Swedish Healthcare Organizations	203
9.3	Conceptualization of CSR and EO	204
9.3.1	CSR.	205
9.3.2	EO.	207
9.4	CSR and EO Policies in Practice	210
9.5	Differences Between the Countries in Perceptions of CSR and EO	215
9.6	Profiles of Sample Organizations on CSR and EO	217
9.7	Differences Between the Countries with Respect to Attractiveness and Effectiveness	220
9.8	Attractiveness and Effectiveness Across Sample Organizations	221
9.9	Importance of Values for Attractiveness	222
9.10	Summary and Discussion	223
	References.	224
10	Gender Equality in the Swedish Educational Sector: A Case Study on Swedish Academia.	225
	Birgitta Jordansson
10.1	Introduction	225
10.2	Swedish Academy from a Gender Perspective: History and Current State	226
10.3	Political Striving for Gender Equality in a Swedish Academic Context.	227
10.4	Gender in a Meritocratic Organization	228
10.5	Gender Policy Meets Academia	229
10.6	Distinctions Between Equal Opportunities and Gender Equality: An Analytical Statement	230
10.7	Organizational Prerequisites in Academic Settings	231
10.8	Findings from the Interviews: Understandings of Gender Equality	232

10.9	Gender Equality as Part of the Work Environment	233
10.10	Challenging Core Activities	235
10.11	Nature of the Tasks	237
10.12	Summary	238
	References	239
11	Attractive Values Across Sectors in Sweden and India	241
11.1	Introduction	241
11.2	Are Perceptions of CSR and EO Shared Between Managers in the Same Organization?	241
11.3	Exploring the Impact of CSR and EO Practices on Managers’ Perceptions of Workplace Attractiveness and Performance	244
11.3.1	Bivariate Correlations	244
11.3.2	Multilevel Regression Analysis	245
11.4	Exploring the Impact of National, Sectoral, Organizational and Gender Contexts on How CSR and EO Are Perceived	251
11.4.1	National and Sectoral Context	251
11.4.2	Organizational Context	254
11.4.3	Gender Context	255
11.4.4	What Matters Most?	257
11.5	Cross-Cultural Validity of the Significance of CSR and EO for Workplace Attractiveness and Effectiveness	257
11.5.1	Contingent on Country	258
11.5.2	Contingent on Sector	261
11.5.3	Universal or Context-Specific Impact	262
11.6	Summary	262
	References	264
12	Major Findings and Insights	265
12.1	Introduction	265
12.2	National and Organizational Context	268
12.3	Major Findings on Perceptions of CSR and EO	271
12.3.1	CSR and EO as Cultural Expressions	271
12.3.2	CSR and EO as Part of an Attractive Organizational Culture	272
12.3.3	Implications for Employer Branding	272
12.4	Conceptualization of CSR and EO from Quantitative Data	275
12.4.1	Conceptualization of CSR	275
12.4.2	Conceptualization of EO	277
12.5	Findings on CSR from Qualitative Data	278
12.5.1	Understanding of CSR	278
12.5.2	CSR Policies in Practice	279
12.6	Findings on EO from Qualitative Data	280
12.6.1	The Understanding of EO	280

12.6.2	EO Policies in Practice	282
12.7	National Comparisons from Quantitative Data	282
12.7.1	General Pattern of Variation Between Organizations in India and Sweden	282
12.7.2	Differences Between India and Sweden in CSR	283
12.7.3	Differences Between India and Sweden in EO.	284
12.7.4	Differences Between India and Sweden in the Impact of CSR and EO on Managers' Ratings of Workplace Attractiveness and Performance	285
12.8	Sector Comparisons from Quantitative Data	286
12.8.1	Differences Between Sectors in CSR and EO	286
12.8.2	Sector Differences in the Impact of CSR and EO on Managers' Ratings of Workplace Attractiveness and Performance	287
12.9	Gender	288
12.10	Limitations	290
12.11	Summary	291
12.11.1	National.	292
12.11.2	Sectoral	292
12.11.3	Organizational	293
	References.	293
13	Implications for Stakeholders and Recommendations for Attractive Work	297
13.1	Introduction	297
13.2	Generic Implications and Recommendations.	298
13.2.1	The Impact of Organizational Values	298
13.2.2	Legislation and National Culture Strengthen Each Other	300
13.2.3	Global and National Cultures.	300
13.2.4	Gender Aspects	301
13.3	Specific Implications and Recommendations.	301
13.3.1	Implications for Employers and HR Specialists	301
13.3.2	Implications for Potential Managers.	305
13.3.3	Implications for Policy Makers	305
13.3.4	Implications for Researchers	306
13.4	Conclusions	307
	References.	308

Understanding Attractive Work in a Globalized World
Studies from India and Sweden

Biswas, U.N.; Allard, K.; Pousette, A.; Härenstam, A.

2017, XXX, 308 p. 65 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-6131-8