
Contents

Part I Elements of Nutrition Therapy

- 1 Medical Nutrition Therapy: Managing Disease with Individualized Dietary Recommendations and Intervention . . . 3
Cassandra Vanderwall
- 2 Health-Related Quality of Life and Urolithiasis 17
Cynthia Sharadin and Patrick Lowry
- 3 Myths Regarding Nutrition and Stone Management 29
Chad Huckabay, Michael Wood, and Clayton Newell

Part II Role of Diet in Urolithiasis

- 4 Digestion and Absorption. 43
Desiree de Waal
- 5 Energy and Nutrient Balance: Focus on Kidney Stones 59
Kristina L. Penniston
- 6 Dietary Assessment of Patients Who Form Kidney Stones 73
Kristina L. Penniston

Part III Nutrition Therapy for Specific Lithogenic Risk Factors

- 7 Nutrition Therapy for Low Urine Volume 93
Marawan M. El Tayeb
- 8 Nutrition Therapy for Specific Lithogenic Risk Factors: High Urine Calcium, High Urine Oxalate 99
Marawan M. El Tayeb and Samar A. Ibrahim
- 9 Low Urine Citrate/Magnesium/Potassium 115
Fysal AlBaalbaki and Mohanram Narayanan
- 10 Nutrition Therapy for Specific Lithogenic Risk Factors: High Urine Uric Acid/Acid Urine 125
Robert Marcovich

11 Therapeutic Nutritional Strategies When No Risk Factors Are Apparent	135
Karen Doersch and Patrick Lowry
 Part IV Integrating Nutritional Stone Prevention with Therapy for Other Comorbidities
12 Overweight/Obesity: Metabolic Benefits to Reduce Stone Risk.	147
Marcelino E. Rivera and Amy E. Krambeck
13 Chronic Kidney Disease: Balancing Nutritional Needs with Nutrition Prevention of Kidney Stones.	157
Terrie Holewinski and Kristina L. Penniston
14 Diabetes and Metabolic Syndrome: Improved Control May Reduce Stone Risk	169
Kathleen M. Zatavekas and Kristina L. Penniston
15 Malabsorptive Disorders and Inflammatory Bowel Disease: Assessing and Improving Nutritional Stone Risk	179
Joshua M. Garcia, Aaron Brafman, and Benjamin K. Canales
 Part V Strategies for Providing Nutrition Therapy and Education to Patients
16 Strategies for Counseling Patients in Clinic	193
R. Allan Jhagroo
17 Strategies for Providing Nutritional Therapy and Education to Stone-Forming Patients	203
Sutchin R. Patel
 Appendices.	 211
Index.	251

Nutrition Therapy for Urolithiasis

Lowry, P.; Penniston, K.L. (Eds.)

2018, VI, 258 p. 19 illus., 10 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-16413-7