

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: The 2016 US Presidential Election	1
	Jamie Gillies
2	“Different Strokes for Different Folks”: Implications of Voter Micro-Targeting and Appeal in the Age of Donald Trump	11
	Vincent Raynauld and André Turcotte
3	Thinking What He Says: Market Research and the Making of Donald Trump’s 2016 Presidential Campaign	29
	Brian Conley
4	Trump and the Republican Brand Refresh	49
	Ken Cosgrove
5	The 2016 US Primaries: Parties and Candidates in a World of Big Data	65
	Neil Bendle, Joseph Ryoo and Alina Nastasoïu
6	The Clinton Campaign: Appeals to Moderate Swing Voters Through Anti-Trump Targeted Communication	81
	Edward Elder

7	“Feel the Bern”: Marketing Bernie Sanders and Democratic Socialism to Primary Voters	97
	Jamie Gillies
8	The US Presidential Race: Advances and Insights for Political Marketing Practice	113
	Jamie Gillies
	Index	121

Political Marketing in the 2016 U.S. Presidential Election

Gillies, J. (Ed.)

2018, XI, 122 p. 2 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-59344-9