

Contents

1	The Debate on Post-Democracy and the Traditions of Scenarios of Decline	1
1.1	Scenarios of Decline in Democratic Theory	1
1.2	Democracy Without a Dictatorial Alternative?	7
	References.	9
2	Criticism of Politics in the Old Media and the ‘Citizenship in Rage’ (Wutbürgertum) in the New Media	11
2.1	Citizenship in Rage—A New Culture of Protest?	11
2.2	“Darlings” and “Bad Boys” in the Media Campaigns.	15
2.3	New Media in Networks Versus Established Media	20
2.4	Conclusions	24
	References.	26
3	New Forms of Participation and the Dangers of Populism and Right-Wing Extremism	31
3.1	Definitions, Typologies and Developmental Stages of Populism	31
3.2	The New Normative Debate on Democracy and the Virtues and Failures of Populism	36
	References.	46
4	Proposals for an Institutional Reform of Democracy	53
4.1	Theory of Blocked Society	53
4.2	Critique and Reform of Democracy	56
4.3	Individual Proposals for Reform of the Parliamentary System and the “Party State”	60
4.3.1	Changes to Electoral Law	61
4.3.2	The Election of Executive Leaders by the People	62
4.3.3	Limitation of the Term of Office for Deputies and Ministers	64

4.3.4	Abolition of Party Discipline in Parliamentary Party Groups	64
4.3.5	Reform of Party Financing	65
4.3.6	Fighting Against Corruption	69
4.3.7	Introduction of Primaries.	71
4.3.8	Referenda at All Political Levels.	72
4.4	Reform of Democracy in Coalition Negotiations, Government Declarations and Policy Outputs	75
	References.	84
5	Normative Models of Democratic Development.
	From Post-Democracy to Neo-Democracy?	89
5.1	Models of Justice for Democratic Reforms.	89
5.2	Theories on the Reform of Democracies.	99
	References.	112
	About Heidelberg University	117
	Institute for Political Science (IPW).	119
	About the Author	123
	Author Index.	125

From Post-Democracy to Neo-Democracy

von Beyme, K.

2018, VI, 127 p. 17 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-66660-0