

Contents

1 Stereophotogrammetry in Functional Evaluation:
History and Modern Protocols	1
1.1 History of Motion Analysis	1
1.2 Leonardo Da Vinci's Contribution	8
1.3 Modern Functional Evaluation	9
1.4 Functional Evaluation Protocols	13
1.5 Gait Analysis	20
1.6 On Human Motor Control	23
References.	25
2 A New Method for the Quality Assurance of Strength
Measurements	31
2.1 Introduction	32
2.2 Preliminary Setup	38
2.3 Final Experimental Setup	50
2.3.1 Subjects.	50
2.3.2 Instrumentation	50
2.3.3 Motion Capture Protocol.	54
2.3.4 Strength Protocol.	57
2.4 Data Processing	61
2.4.1 Indices for Knee Strength Trials	66
2.4.2 Indices for Ankle Strength Trials	69
2.4.3 Statistics	72
2.4.4 Software Implementation.	72
2.5 Results and Discussion	76
2.5.1 Knee Strength	76
2.5.2 Ankle Strength	78
2.5.3 Influence of the Operator's Ability on Strength Measurements	80
2.5.4 Use of a One-Component HHD Versus Six-Component Load Cell	82

2.5.5	Correlation Between Improper Positioning and Strength Measurement.	82
2.6	Conclusion	83
	References.	85
3	Interpretation of Gait Analysis Data by Means of Synthetic Descriptors and a New Method for the Analysis of the Offset.	89
3.1	Introduction	90
3.1.1	Gillette Gait Index (GGI)	91
3.1.2	Hip Flexor Index (HFI).	91
3.1.3	Gait Deviation Index (GDI)	91
3.1.4	Movement Analysis Profile (MAP) and Gait Profile Score (GPS)	92
3.1.5	Linear Fit Method (LFM)	94
3.2	Aim of the Research.	95
3.3	Description of the Methods	96
3.3.1	Subjects.	96
3.3.2	Equipment and Procedures	97
3.3.3	Data Processing.	98
3.3.4	Offset Corrected Movement Analysis Profile.	98
3.3.5	Statistics	100
3.3.6	Software Implementation.	101
3.4	Results and Discussion.	103
3.4.1	Movement Analysis Profile.	103
3.4.2	Linear Fit Method.	105
3.4.3	Offset Corrected Movement Analysis Profile.	108
3.4.4	Correlation Between Methods.	110
3.4.5	Gait Report	112
3.4.6	Discussion of the Results	113
3.5	Conclusion	116
	References.	119

Modern Functional Evaluation Methods for Muscle
Strength and Gait Analysis

Ancillao, A.

2018, XIV, 121 p. 87 illus., 72 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-67436-0