

Table of Contents

Foreword	V
Acknowledgements	IX
Preface	XI
List of Figures	XIX
List of Tables.....	XXIII
 Introduction	 1
 1 Theoretical Framework.....	 31
1.1 Geopolitics: Definition and a New Framework for Analysis	33
1.2 Geopolitics and Transport in Eurasia	51
1.3 The New Eurasian Inner Rimland (NEIR): Defining, Conceptualizing and Reconceptualizing the Central Asia-Caucasus Space.....	72
 2 Eurasia before Europe: Trade, Transport and Power Dynamics in the Early World System (1st Century BC – 14th Century AD)	 77
2.1 The Continental and Littoral Trade System Unity in Pre-Mongol and Pre-European Eurasia: The Silk Road(s) in Ancient Times.....	80
2.2 Trade Beyond Geopolitical Confrontation: The period of the Four Empires, Sponsors and Beneficiaries of Transcontinental Trade (1 st Century BC – 3 rd Century AD).....	84
2.3 Trade and Political Fragmentation: Arabs, Central Asians and the Chinese in the Golden Age of the Early “World System” (7 th – 12 th Century AD).....	95

2.4	From the Mongols to the “Insulation” of China: The “Eurasian World System” loses its Engine (13 th to 14 th Century AD)	102
2.5	Conclusion: A “Quantum Leap” from the Pre-European to the 21st Century post-European Eurasian “World system” and the New Eurasian Inner Rimland Concept.....	110
3	Shifting Trade Flows and Centers of Economic Power in 21st Century Eurasia: Toward a Rimland-led Unified System	117
3.1	Asia–Europe–Asia: The Transcontinental Dimension	130
3.2	The Intra-Continental Dimension: South–South Links and the Re-emerging Rimland of Trade.....	157
3.3	The Sub-Continental Dimension: The Central Asia–Caucasus Space from Russia’s Backyard to the Inner Part of the Rimland?....	182
3.4	Conclusion: A Rimland-led Unified Trade System and the Position of the New Eurasian Inner Rimland	232
4	Eurasian Transport Integration Beyond Energy: Geoeconomic Transformation and Geostrategic Response	247
4.1	Globalization and Eurasian Transport Integration.....	252
4.2	Eurasian Overland Transportation: Present Situation and Constraints.....	262
4.3	The Evolving Structure of Eurasian Transport Integration: The External Centers of Economic Power China, Russia, Turkey and Iran.....	281
4.4	The Evolving Structure of Eurasian Transport Integration: The New Eurasian Inner Rimland and the Kazakhstan Pivot.....	395
	General Conclusion and Outlook.....	431
	Bibliography.....	443

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-658-20191-3>

Beyond Energy

Trade and Transport in a Reconnecting Eurasia

Pepe, J.M.

2018, XXIV, 486 p. 63 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-658-20191-3