

Contents

1	Introduction.....	1
2	State of the Art.....	5
2.1	Universities as Organizations, Shared Governance, and Collegiality .	5
2.1.1	What Kind of Organizations are Universities?	5
2.1.2	Shared Governance in Universities	11
2.1.3	The Concept of Collegiality at Universities	22
2.1.4	German Universities: Changes in Formal Regulations, the Organization, Shared Governance, and Collegiality	26
2.2	Research on University Presidents	32
2.3	Career Paths of University Presidents	39
3	Theories Applied in this Study	43
3.1	Analyzing Career Paths of University Presidents with Bourdieu.....	44
3.1.1	The Scientific Field.....	44
3.1.2	Scientific Capital.....	46
3.1.3	Habitus	49
3.2	Understanding Reforms in Universities with Micro/Organizational Politics	50
3.2.1	The Concept of Micro Politics in this Study	52
3.2.2	The Sources and Three Dimensions of Power	56
4	Methods and Sampling	63
4.1	Qualitative Approach: Semi-Structured Expert Interviews	73
4.2	Qualitative Content Analysis.....	74
4.3	Coding.....	75
5	Career Paths of German University Presidents: 2011, 1995 and 1980	77

5.1	The Sample.....	79
5.2	Results - Career Paths: 2011	80
5.2.1	Internal and External Recruitment, and Gender in 2011	80
5.2.2	Academic Disciplines	81
5.2.3	Experience in Academic Self-Administration: Deanship and Vice-Presidency	82
5.2.4	University President.....	85
5.3	Results - Career Paths: 1995	85
5.3.1	Internal and External Recruitment, and Gender	85
5.3.2	Academic Disciplines	86
5.3.3	University President.....	88
5.4	Results - Career Paths: 1980	88
5.4.1	Internal and External Recruitment, and Gender	88
5.4.2	Academic Disciplines	90
5.4.3	Deanship and Vice-Presidency	90
5.4.4	University President.....	90
5.4.5	Conclusions Regarding Presidential Career Paths	91
5.5	Brief Digression: Job Advertisements.....	95
6	Self-Description Given by German University Presidents	99
6.1	Transition into presidency	99
6.2	Necessary Skills and Prior Experience.....	103
6.3	Transition from Expert Scientist to Top-Level Administrator	105
6.4	Shape and Create	108
6.5	Summary	110
7	Getting Reforms Done	115
7.1	Initiating a Reform	117
7.1.1	Constructing a Need for Reform.....	117
7.1.2	First Contact Persons	118

7.1.3	Telling the Academic Senate and the University	121
7.2	Conducting the Reform	122
7.2.1	Support and Resistance	122
7.2.2	Coping with Anticipated Resistance	123
7.2.3	How to Deal with Different Forms of Resistance	124
7.2.4	Dealing with Resistance and Fostering Support	127
7.3	Essential Reform Requirements	129
7.3.1	Networks and Coalitions.....	129
7.3.2	Working Groups.....	131
7.4	Formal Power vs. Collegiality	140
7.4.1	Why not Use Formal Power Instead?.....	140
7.4.2	Norms of Collegiality	142
7.5	Summary	144
7.5.1	Initiating Reforms	144
7.5.2	Dealing with Resistance.....	145
7.5.3	Essential Reform Requirements.....	146
7.5.4	Formal Power vs. Collegiality	149
8	How University Presidents Cope with the Academic Senate, the Ministry, and the Board of Trustees.....	153
8.1	Federal State Ministries of Science	153
8.2	The Board of Trustees	155
8.3	The Federal State Board of Trustees	157
8.4	The Academic Senates	158
8.5	The Academic Senate, the Board of Trustees, the Federal State Ministry of Science in Relation to one Another According to the University Presidents	162
8.6	Summary	166
9	Results and Discussion	171
9.1	The Presidential Career Paths.....	171

9.2	Collegiality	175
9.3	Formality – Informality and how University Presidents Deal with Both.....	176
9.4	Decision-Making in Universities is a Process, not an Event.	185

The Power of Collegiality
A Qualitative Analysis of University Presidents'
Leadership in Germany
Bieletzki, N.
2018, XV, 209 p. 2 illus., Softcover
ISBN: 978-3-658-20488-4