

Appendix A

References and Further Information

This appendix contains a list of URLs referenced in this book, as well as other sources of information you may find useful in your work.

Here are some sites that will give you more information on specific areas of this book's content. This version of the appendix contains active links. Use them to connect directly to the Web sites listed.

Adobe Sites

You may access these areas directly, or from the main Adobe Acrobat site:

- * Downloads for Windows and Macintosh:
<http://www.adobe.com/support/downloads/main.html>
- * User to User Forum/Macintosh: <http://www.adobeforums.com/cgi-bin/webx?14@@.ee6b2ed>
- * User to User Forum/Windows: <http://www.adobeforums.com/cgi-bin/webx?14@@.ee6b2f2>

Note: Forums will require a site login. If you have created a profile at Adobe in the past, you will have a cookie in your system. Otherwise, all these links will take you to the same registration screen. Log in there first.

- * Acrobat Technical Guides:
<http://www.adobe.com/support/techguides/acrobat/main.html>
- * Adobe Studio (requires login and ID):
<http://studio.adobe.com/expertcenter/acrobat/main.html>
- * Acrobat Support Knowledgebase:
<http://www.adobe.com/support/products/acrobat.html>
- * Adobe Acrobat certification exam information (Adobe Certified Expert Program):
<http://partners.adobe.com/asn/training/acehowto.html>

Information Sites

Here are some of the sites I frequent:

- * Planet PDF: <http://www.planetpdf.com>. This site has lots of information on PDF issues, uses, and third-party extensions.
- * Planet eBook: <http://www.planetebook.com>. One of the Planet PDF sites. This one concentrates on e-book issues and information.

- * Planet Publish: <http://www.planetpublish.com>. Another Planet PDF site. This site deals with electronic publishing, XML, and information design and development.
- * Creativepro.com: <http://www.creativepro.com>. This site offers articles, issues, and reviews for designers.
- * Publish.net: <http://www.publish.net>. A network site to all manner of things graphic: news, information, tips, and third-party extensions.
- * PDFzone: <http://www.pdfzone.com>. This is the PDF site of Publish.net.

Organizations

Major organizations offering insight and information exchange include the following:

- * ACM SIGGRAPH (computer graphics organization): <http://www.siggraph.org>
- * The IEEE Computer Society international professional bodies for IT professionals: <http://www.computer.org>
- * Association for Information and Image Management (AIIM): <http://www.aiim.org>
- * International Digital Enterprise Alliance (formerly Graphic Communications Association): <http://www.idealliance.org>
- * Society for Technical Communication: <http://www.stc.org>