

Welcome to the study guide for the textbook “Mathematics for Physicists and Engineers” which will help you to master the mathematics you need.

This CD contains two versions. As discussed before, you may prefer to work with your PC to display the frames and make your calculations on a separate sheet of paper. In this case click the button “Chapter n”.

If on the other hand you prefer to have the frames of the study guide in a printed format, click the button “Print Version”.

Later on you may change your option and study any chapter in any mode you like.